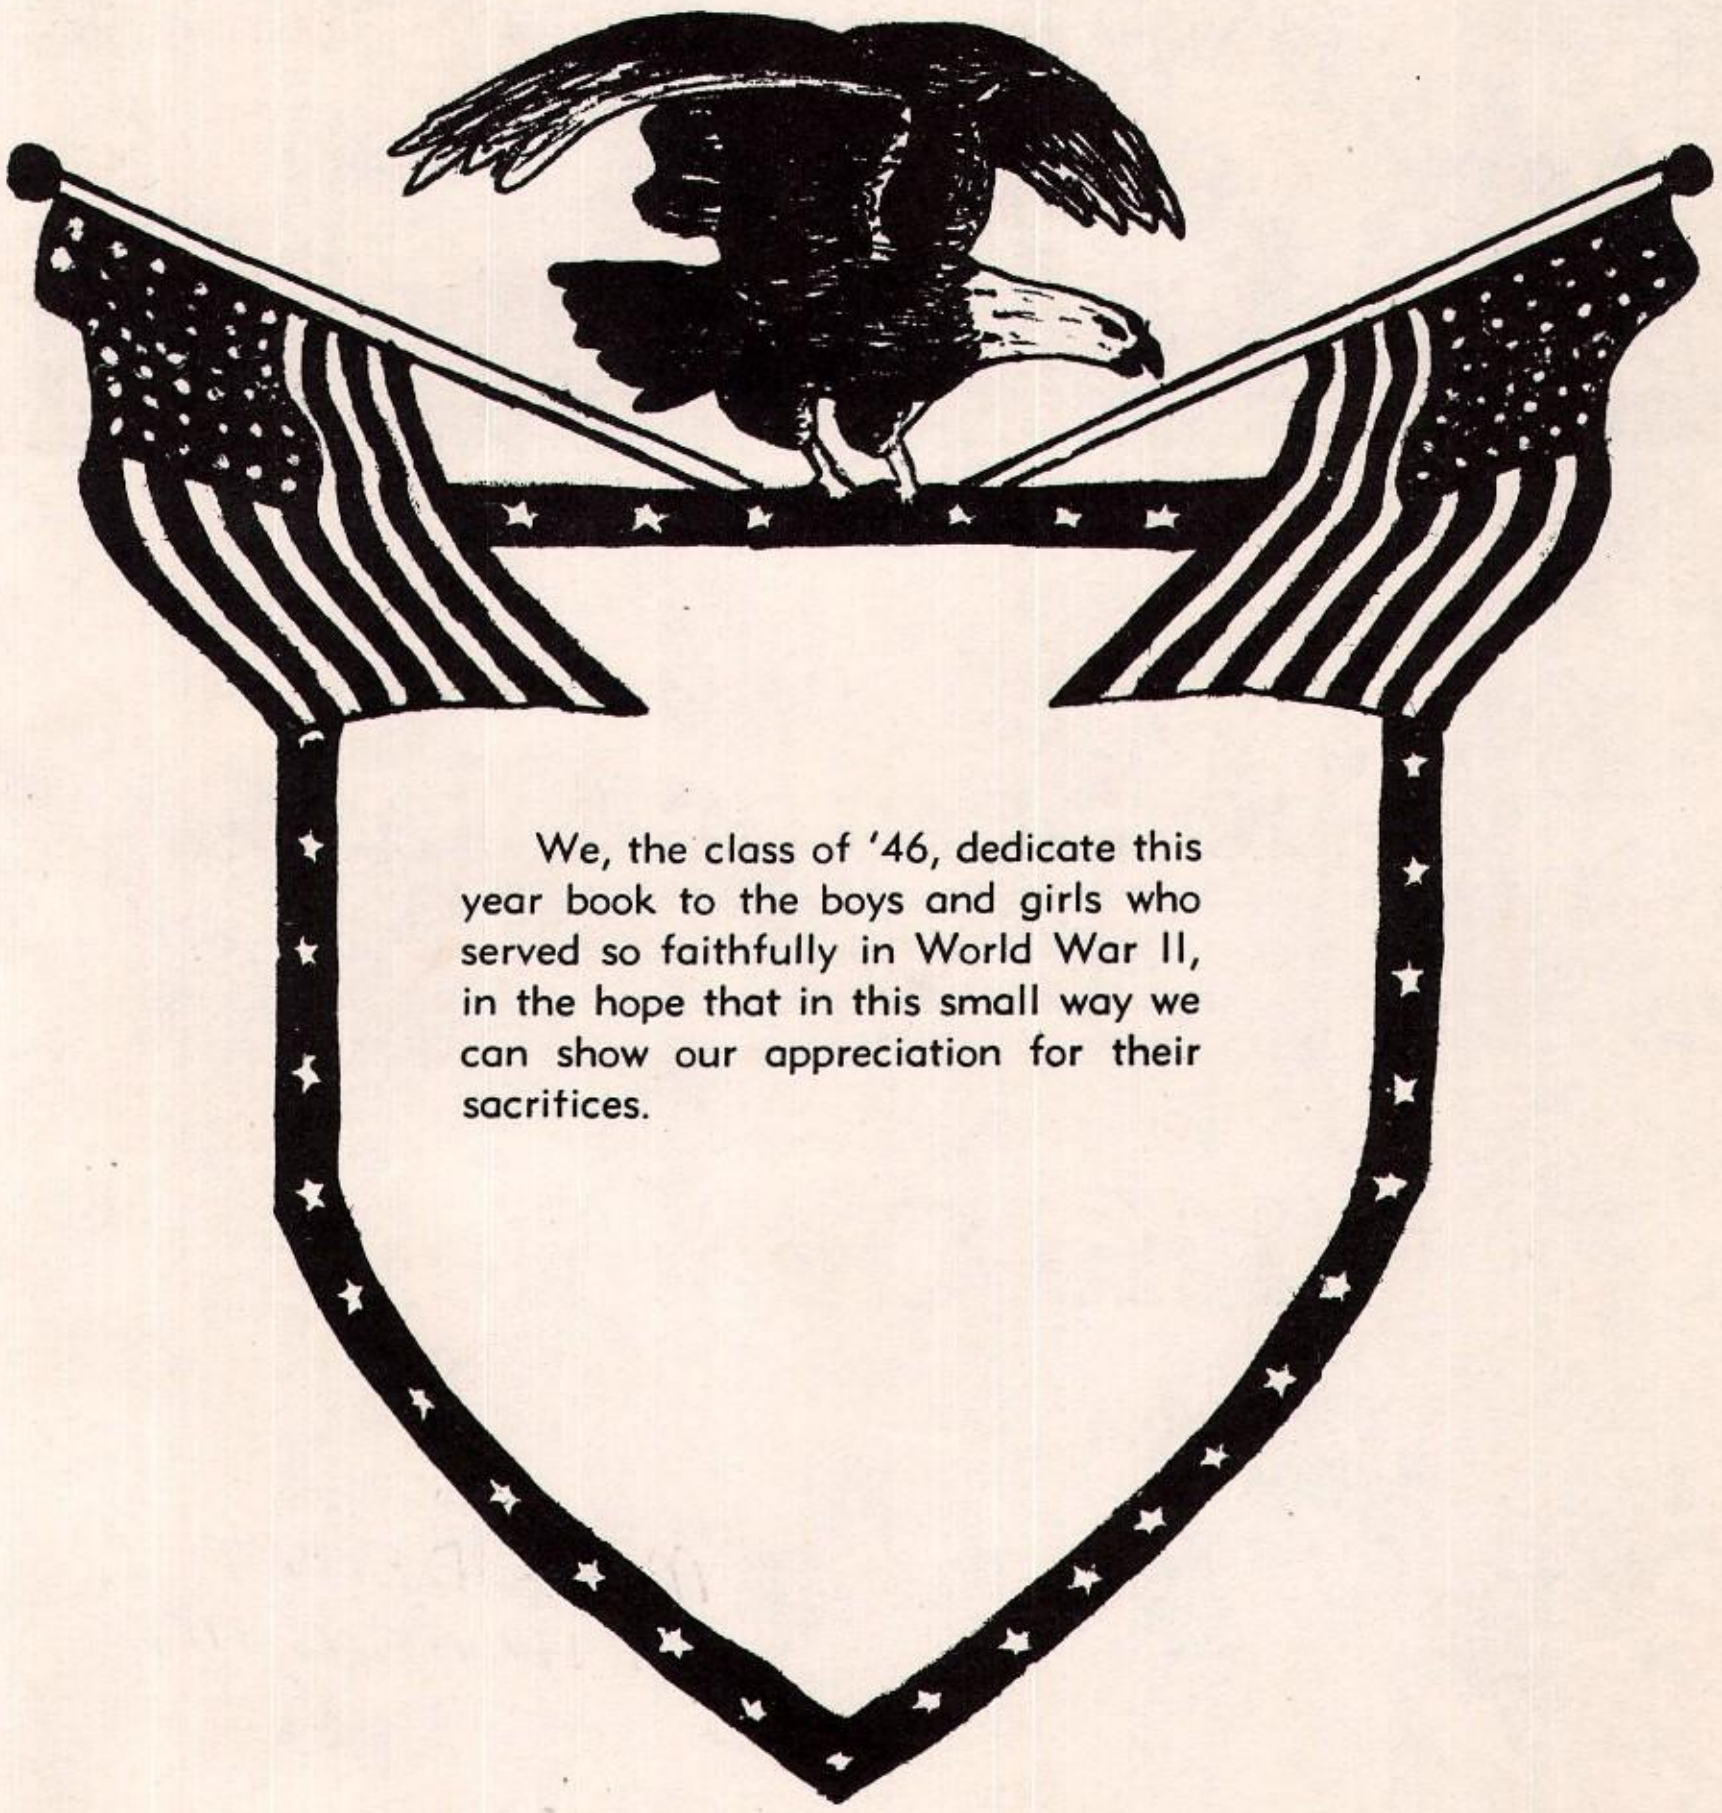
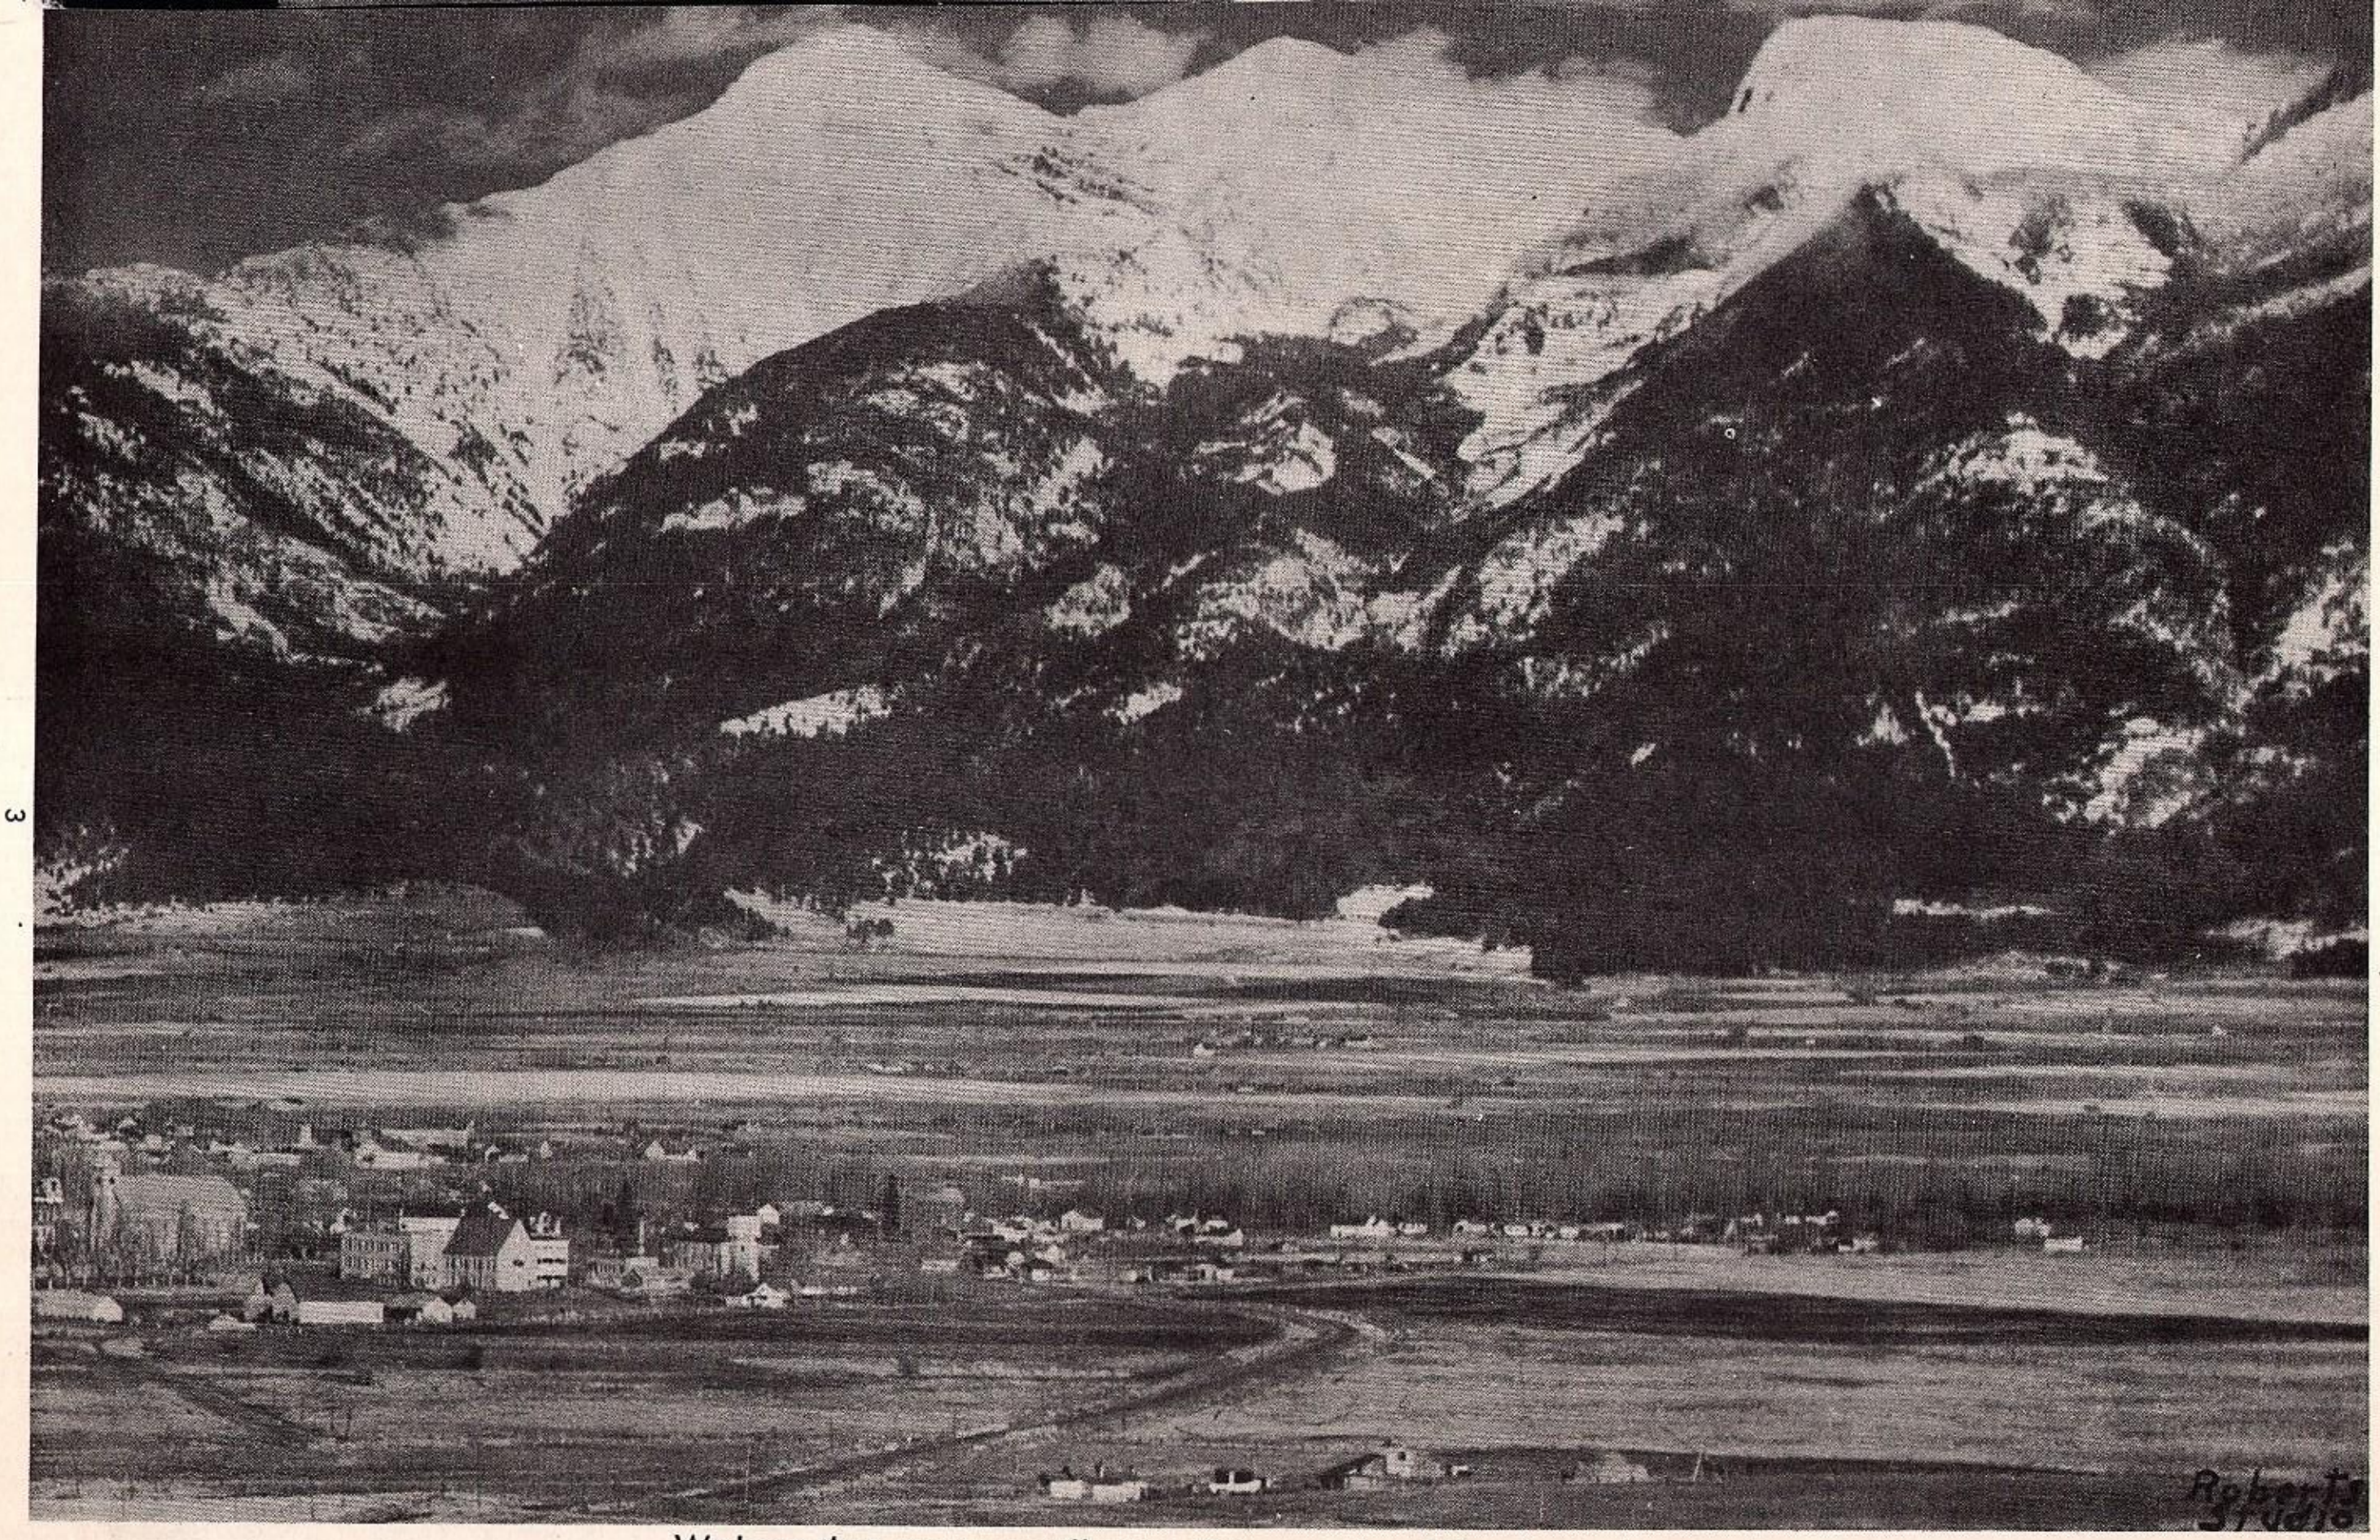
Dedication



We, the class of '46, dedicate this year book to the boys and girls who served so faithfully in World War II, in the hope that in this small way we can show our appreciation for their sacrifices.



We hope that everyone will enjoy this annual and the pleasant memories that unfold as you thumb through the following pages.

Calendar

SEPTEMBER

4—School doors opened today after a joyous summer vacation. Green "Frosh" crowded the seniors from the assembly. Of course, the senior boys didn't mind. As we walked we could hear, "Hey, look at those legs, Hubba-Hubba!" echo down the halls. This might not be such a dull year after all. How about that fellows?

22—Frosh initiation—and how those "good looking kids" suffered—paddle line an' all! The girls consoled themselves by saying, "We get a party tonight, but golly, look at our hair."

29—Today the "Frosh" painted the "M" They looked like white-washed mummies when they came back. (Miss Flynn would like to know where all the boys went. She declares they weren't at work.)

OCTOBER

8—Mrs. Crump left us today and we did hate to see her leave. Miss Dugan took the position as head of the English Department.

10—Speed and Norman played instrumentals for the Masons. The Nonetto sang three songs. We were quite uncomfortable as the audience stared at us, but you should have seen the food disappear when we seated ourselves to a delicious meal served us by the Eastern Stars.

16—The Nonetto chorus sang for Eastern Star. We are getting more "calm and collected" as we make more public appearances.

19—Sophomore girls prepared a banquet for the Commercial Club. It was a great success—except they find that throwing buns behind radiators isn't such a good way to warm them. Boys' chorus sang but, the boys think their music would promote more indigestion than digestion.

23—Freshmen return party. Dances, dates, and fun. (We should have more tag dances, don't you think, kids?) Mrs. Daugherty, Pinkie, and Kenny are a very good combination for putting out jazz.

27—Senior Class rings arrive.

NOVEMBER

2—Played Ronan a game of football and won the Northwestern Championship Trophy. Weren't we happy and proud though?

6—Hot lunches started today in the new lunch room. No more packing lunches for Mom. "Pretty neat."

9—Very sad day for M. H. S. We were defeated by Phillipsburg for the Western Divisional Championship by only a few points gained at the very end of the game. This is the first football game Mission lost since we were Freshmen.

19—Home Economics girls journeyed to Polson Country Club for the Home Economics district meeting. They presented a skit, "Family Album."

20—Junior play practice started today. "Murder Mansion" will be presented January 10, with a very talented cast under the direction of Mr. Crump.

21—We had a mixer in the gym, lots of fun but why do some of the boys insist upon dimming the lights? Could it be they have found someone that they like and can't risk the possibility of someone else getting the same ideas? How about that "Frosh"!

22—Thanksgiving vacation. Did that word "vacation" sound good! That alone, we thought, was enough to be thankful for.

23—F.F.A. boys spend week end in Glacier Park. They left town after the Plains game, returned in the wee hours Monday morning.

30—Basketball begins. We are hoping for a trophy this year, too.

DECEMBER

10—Home Economics girls of the senior class cooked a very good meal for the Commercial Club banquet, but Miss Flynn has yet to find out who really let the sauce burn. Everybody says it was because the stove wasn't functioning correctly. Could that be? How about it Marjorie?

19—Junior class had a sleigh-ride party. It was reported that everyone had a very good time, but we wonder where those black eyes came from. Chili was served in the Home Ec. room after the ride. Could that be why the large majority of the group weren't at school the next day?

21—Home Ec. Club had their Christmas party today. Grand affair, food, presents and all. Lila is still trying to decide when they started putting nipples on "Coke" bottles.

21—Christmas vacation starts today. Eat plenty kids, "for tomorrow you may die!" And don't forget to return January 2.

Calendar

JANUARY

2—Christmas vacation over and we return to these lonely halls. Most everyone is present, so, guess we survived Christmas pretty well.

7—National Assembly Program presenting the Duke and Marcella Montague.

10—Junior class play, "Murder Mansion." Great talent has been revealed. We find it is too bad Edna wasn't a French countess by birth.

FEBRUARY

12—Cheer Leaders and helpers decorated the gym for the sub-district tournament. Very cute but lots of work.

13—The seniors industriously began work on the annual.

14 - 15 - 16—Sub - district tournament here. We found our town has many people when it comes to basketball games! We didn't get first but we did get third place and the opportunity to go to the district at Hot Springs.

20—Boys leave for tournament at Hot Springs. Pep Club took bus to the game. We lost but had a very nice trip and lots of fun.

22—Finds Mission out of the tournament. BUT, we almost got the good sportsmanship medal—if they would have given one! Basketball boys report a hectic time especially when they started to batch. They found they aren't the best economizers though. At least, they didn't think it was logical to spend ten dollars for a meal for four.

22—Jess Roberts, photographer from Ravalli, shot pictures today.

28—Home Economics Department prepared a banquet for Women's Club Birthday party. Everyone said the meal was wonderful, but we think they were just being nice. Either that or we are improving fast!

MARCH

4—The inter-class tournament started today.

8—Seniors begin work on the play, "The Whole Town's Talking." The cast has been chosen by Mrs. Ross, the director. They expect to present it early in April.

10—Picture proofs came back from the studio. We keep telling ourselves, "The finished product won't be half as bad."

15—Mrs. Daugherty presented her annual band concert—very good entertainment.

19—The grade school gave a program and the funds went to the "Hot Lunch" kitchen.

22—F.F.A. boys attend public speaking contest at Ronan.

29—F.F.A. sponsored boxing match, Charlo vs. Mission.

APRIL

10—Stark, Roseleip, Dixon, Johns, Pinsoneault to Bozeman State F.F.A. Convention

12—Senior Play was presented and everyone knew their lines in spite of last minute worries.

19—The boys started training today for the annual spring track meet.

19-20—F.F.A. boys attend the judging contest at Ronan.

27—The long awaited festivity finally arrived—the Junior Prom (in the gymnasium). Herbig's orchestra from Missoula played.

MAY

1—Senior Banquet and Ball tonight.

2-3-4—High school went to Bozeman.
—Track meet at Polson.

6-10—F.F.A. boys went to Spokane to a livestock show. Spokane is quite the lively town huh, boys?

11—County track meet at Polson—quite a showing.

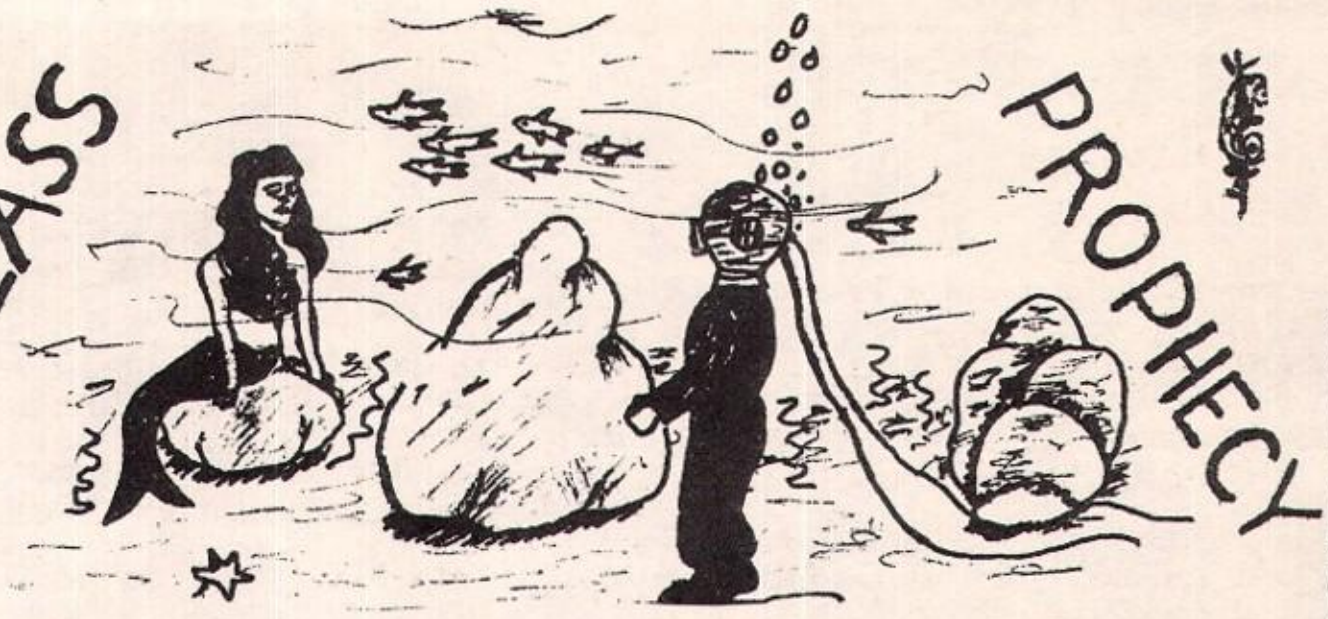
12—Baccalaureate exercises today. Rev. E. Jacobson of St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Missoula, gave the sermon.

15—Commencement exercises. Rev. Marvin H. Adams delivers commencement address.

16-17—Track meet in Missoula. (Inter-scholastic.)

18—School is out today. No more school for us, eh, kids?

THE CLASS PROPHECY



As I was going into the dark depths of the Pacific Ocean somewhere off the coast of Java onto the floor of the ocean, where nature has provided more beauty and splendor than most people will ever see, I encountered a mermaid sitting comfortably on a huge rock on the ocean floor. Then everything went black. As I came to, I found myself in the presence of several mermaids, each one more beautiful than the last. It seems that I had caught the air hose under a rock which cut off my supply of oxygen. The queen of the mermaids said that anyone surviving such an accident deserved to know what was in the future for him and his classmates.

I can hear her soft feminine voice now saying:

"I can see a dark girl, Dorothy Anderson, happily running a beautiful ranch house somewhere in Texas. She makes a good ranchers' wife."

"That very pretty blonde, Frances Jacobson, is matching wallpaper and draperies in some millionaire's summer home in California. Oh! Oh! she just fell from a ladder when doing a perfect demonstration on interior decorating."

"Mildred Nuse stands primping before a large mirror somewhere in New Leipzig, North Dakota. She's probably attending a ball."

"Somewhere in California, I see Lela Bates surrounded by several very handsome men."

"I now see in New York your Montana friend, Alma Clayton, leading actress of the Broadway hit, who is very much interested in the famous sights of the city, but who is a little lonesome for good old Mission."

"Sleeping comfortably underneath a shade tree in the backyard of her home you'll find Lorraine Barnhouse. She looks very contented and happy. Ah, for the love of sleep."

"It is written here, on my beloved rock of knowledge that one of your very intelligent classmates from Mission High, Parley Smith, is really seeing the world through the lens of a camera at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. All I can say is, more power to him. (Hubba! Hubba!)"

"I can also see another of your friends, Everett Nelson, out in the sunshine, a specimen of health, growing beautiful roses, all sizes, shapes, and colors. He looks indescribably happy."

"I now see LaVonne Simon energetically working over the color scheme of her home in Ronan, Montana. She really looks contented, and I'll bet she is."

"Ah, and here, covered with grease and dirt, with his curly blondè locks continually getting in his sparkling blue eyes, I find Warren Cochran. I'll bet he has been working like mad on someone's old Mercury. That's "Cocky" living the 'life of Riley'."

A whale swam past and obscured our view, but it did not interrupt the revelation of the future for long.

"Now Leishman is living alone with a dozen cats, happily surrounded by their family of fuzzy, purring kittens. She is reading a book of Poe, munching cookies, and finishing a five-pound box of chocolates.

"Through the haze I see "Tes" (alias, Tom Stoll) emptying garbage cans in a terrific hurry as he has a date with a beautiful red head. Trouble is, he wants to get rid of her and take a blonde, but if he does that, the brunette will get mad. Oh, for the life of a Romeo!"

"I see Lester McKeever trying to control a class of giggling girls. It isn't every day that girls are taught Spanish by a dashing young casanova."

M.R.S.

"It seems that Eugene Freshour is out on a football field, directing the neighborhood kids in an exciting game of football. In his spare time he gallops on his range accounting for his cattle."

"And, now, I visualize a company of infantrymen crossing the Alps in Switzerland. The commanding officer is Raymond Stoll. In order to get out of the guardhouse, he had to make this dangerous trip, being a good soldier. Brrr, is it cold!"

"The saying is that most red heads have a temper, but, this does not seem to be the case with Earl Britton, alias, "Pinky." I see him wandering around working a week and living a week. Nothing like a little variation, I always say."

"I can see Willard Johns getting up at 6:00 in the morning and working like a dog all day on his 360-acre farm and coming home at night, tired from a hard days work, to a savory meal cooked and served by his loving little wife."

"In the field of communication, I find Floris Green, head of a group of teletype operators. She looks important and is so busy that she doesn't notice that she has worked three hours overtime."

There has just been a hurricane and the water has been rather rough, so the pretty mermaids called a recess until the fury of the storm passed before she resumed.

"I find Lila Anderson, commonly known as "Andy," touring South America, shooting scenes for Paramount Productions. Of course, she eats her 'Wheaties' every morning. After all, where do you think she would get such vim, vigor, and vitality?"

"There, I can see Earl Baker as President of Yale. He is delivering diplomas to his first group of studious graduates."

"And Marie Krantz, with her beautiful hair blowing in the breeze—she is now getting ready to take off to deliver that message from the President to the King of Utopia."

"Lyla Cote's dream has at last come true and she is now cooking for her tired and hungry husband, and should I say more????"

"I see Janis Holmquist making pills at Rochester, Minnesota, and flirting with the good-looking young doctor. (I might add—only about forty and slightly bald.)"

"Marie Detert is now composing extravaganzas for the Queen of Utopia."

"Ellen Hilton, the world's greatest traveler, is now leaving New York harbor for Athens, Greece, where she will be a spectator at the famous Olympics."

"Clyde Stockton, president of an oil syndicate in Texas, is sending our many trainloads of petroleum to be shipped to Europe."

"Jean Brison, voted least likely to succeed, is now dean of women at Vassar. She is trying to make it co-educational—wonder if she'll succeed."

"Last, but not least, I see Marjorie Johnston at Madison Square Garden performing with her troupe of trick riders before a record-breaking audience "

"These are not idle dreams, but actual happenings that are going to occur within the next ten years."

Lorraine Barnhouse, Mildred Nuse, Ellen Hilton, Marie Krantz, Marie Detert, Jean Brison, Lila Anderson, Janis Holmquist, Earl Britton, Willard Johns, and Gene Freshour are all that is left of that original class of '46 who started as first graders in September, 1933, with Miss Steele as teacher. Others came and went each year until finally forty-eight enrolled as freshmen. Now the graduating class, which is to receive their diplomas in May, has dwindled to twenty-seven members. One of these seniors, Raymond Stoll, is serving in the armed forces.

WE realize that we ARE an extraordinary class, because we have always been represented in the band, chorus, and in athletics. We even demonstrated our dramatic ability in two plays: as juniors in "Sulphur and Molasses," and as seniors in "The Whole Town Is Talking."

Earl Britton is the first graduate of MHS who is the descendant of a Mission graduate. His mother, Mrs. Earl Britton, Sr.—nee Viola Lindsey, graduated in 1924.

Class Will

As we take one last lingering look through the familiar halls and rooms of dear old Mission High, we remember one custom of the past —the filing of our last will and testament. So, we hereby leave our individual trademarks to the remaining students.

To Phyllis Jensen, Janis Holmquist leaves her sunny smile with the request that she use it faithfully.

To Helen Thill, Dorothy Anderson leaves her slim twenty-three inch waist line.

To Edward Dixon, Earl Baker leaves his ability to answer ALL questions.

To Edna Kinzle, Lyla Cote leaves her beautiful reddish tresses.

To Paul Richards, Willard Johns leaves his football suit. (Bonnie has promised to keep it in repair.)

Gene Freshour leaves his beard to Dick Pinsonneault.

Lila Anderson leaves her ability to get to class on time to Betty Krantz.

To Judy Krantz, Frances Jacobson leaves her tall stature.

Parley Smith leaves his experience with romance to Richard Strong.

Everett Nelson leaves his women to Douglas Allard.

Mildred Nuse leaves her ability to skip (and get away with it) to Betty Lou Simon.

Clyde Stockton leaves his speed to Charles Johnson.

LaVonne Simon leaves her talkitiveness to Jackie Armour.

To Bob Roseleip, Earl Britton leaves his shiny ringlets.

Marie Detert leaves the Detert knack for basketball to Marjorie Durrant.

Jean Brison leaves her effervescent spirit to Dixie Sipe.

To any sucker, Natalie Leishman leaves her position as editor on the Broadcaster.

Warren Cochran leaves his quiet and studious nature to Jack Holt.

Tommy Stoll leaves his ability to collect money to Marvin Ross—it comes in handy when funds get low.

To Reginald Dumontier, Lester McKeever leaves his musical note on the trombone.

Ray Stoll leaves his jitterbugging to Norman Weiler.

Alma Clayton leaves her height to Donna Brooks.

Marie Krantz leaves her air-mindedness to Gerry Walker.

Lorraine Barnhouse leaves her way with men to Joan Smith.

Floris Green leaves her ability to take dictation to June Hamel.

Marjorie Johnston leaves Jim Huleva to the Dixon girls—regretfully.

Lela Bates leaves her ability for arguments to Elaine Mikkelsen.

Ellen Hilton leaves to venture out into the world.

We leave our way with the teachers to the students who are filling the seats we leave behind.

Juniors show promise of taking the lead in all activities as seniors next year. Those who have seen action on the gridiron and will probably see more next year are: Dick Pinsonneault, Bruce Papenfuss, Bob Roseleip, and Edward Dixon. Among others, Pinsonneault, Papenfuss, and Dixon will probably be out for basketball again next year. Duane Matt also played with the basketball squad this year, but checked out before the term ended. Track prospects include Pinsonneault, Weiler, Dixon, and Roseleip; and for boxing there will be Pinsonneault, Dixon, and Roseleip. Jack Holt, Dick Pinsonneault, Donna Brooks, Ken Twichel, Jackie Armour, Betty Lou Simon, Reginald Dumontier, and Paul Richards, all of whom have played in the band for several years, are the musicians of the class.

THE ANNUAL

We are happy to be able to present the Quaquei again in printed and lithographed form. We have enjoyed working on the annual and we sincerely hope that everyone will like it. It has been our aim and desire to include in this annual every phase of life (and strife!) in Mission High.

THE BROADCASTER

Everyone is proud of the work that has been accomplished by the Broadcaster staff. The Broadcaster is now in its eleventh year of publication. Under the capable supervision of Miss Agnes Karlberg, it has revealed the journalistic talents of the stuaent body. Natalie Leishman was the "hectic" editor and was assisted by June Hamel.

One thing that Mission High can be proud of is an active student government. This organization has charge of many important phases in the governing of our school life. This is an example of one of our most democratic ideals —the representation of the students in planning their school activities.

The student council is composed of twelve members of the student body: one freshman, two sophomores, three juniors and four seniors. Gene Freshour is president, Donna Brooks is secretary-treasurer, and Dick Pinsonneault is vice-president.

Our library is a source of pleasure and knowledge for everyone who wishes to make use of it. A number of fiction and non-fiction books and a new set of encyclopedias were added this year. Last year new shelves were built to accommodate the increasing number of books, and these are already filled.

Officers of the library staff are: Frances Jacobson, president; Marie Detert, vice-president; and Berna McKeever, secretary-treasurer.

OUR "M" CLUB

Our "M" club is an honorary organization composed of boys who have earned a letter in athletics. Eight quarters of football, sixteen quarters of basketball in conference games, nine rounds of boxing, or five or more points earned in the county track meet, make a boy eligible for membership.

The emblem of the club is a blue "M" on a white background. It may be worn only by the club members. Mr. Stark, the coach, is sponsor of the club.

An annual event of the "M" club is a dance for members and their partners in the spring of the year.

G. A. A.

G.A.A., or Girls' Athletic Association, is organized for the purpose of supporting the school in all activities, and to furnish the girls an outlet for their energy.

Under the guidance of Miss Kathleen Flynn, the girls practice archery, badminton, basketball, baseball and, in general, learn the rules of good sportsmanship.

Red-letter day for G.A.A. girls is the playday at Montana State University early in the spring. Those who attended last year were Natalie Leishman, Frances Jacobson, Virginia Kersavage, Marie Detert, Mildred Nuse, Marjorie Johnson, Helen Thill, Betty Lou Simon, and Edna Kinzle.

OUR SCHOOL SONG

Three cheers for our school, Mission High!
May her banners so proudly fly,
Our team in blue and in white,
Go into battle and fight, fight, fight! Rah! Rah! Rah!
MHS we uphold, in bravery and deed so bold,
For victory is our aim, and we will fight,
With all our might to win this game.
